

A close-up photograph of a field of lupines. The central focus is a tall, slender stem with a dense cluster of small, pinkish-purple flowers. The leaves are bright green and have a distinctive palmate shape with several leaflets radiating from a central point. In the background, other lupine plants are visible, some with blue flowers and others with green buds. The lighting is bright, suggesting a sunny day, and the overall scene is lush and vibrant.

Acts 10:37 That word, I say, ye know, which was published throughout all Judaea, and began from Galilee, after the baptism which John preached;