

A close-up, top-down view of a dense cluster of bright pink bougainvillea flowers. The flowers are in various stages of bloom, with some showing prominent stamens. The background is a deep, dark red or black, which makes the vibrant pink of the flowers stand out sharply. The overall texture is busy and layered due to the overlapping petals and stems.

Genesis 01:06 And God said, Let there be a firmament in the midst of the waters, and let it divide the waters from the waters.
