

A photograph of a river with white water rapids. The water is turbulent and white with foam as it flows over dark, jagged rocks. The background shows more rocks and some greenery on the banks. The text is overlaid on the image in a large, white, serif font.

Genesis 32:07 Then Jacob was greatly afraid and distressed: and he divided the people that was with him, and the flocks, and herds, and the camels, into two bands;