

Genesis 47:03 And Pharaoh said unto his brethren, What is your occupation? And they said unto Pharaoh, Thy servants are shepherds, both we, and also our fathers.

The background of the image is a close-up, high-angle shot of a sandy surface. Numerous orange and black butterflies, likely monarchs, are scattered across the sand. Some are resting on the surface, while others appear to be in motion. The lighting is bright, casting soft shadows from the butterflies onto the sand. The overall scene is natural and serene.