

A photograph of a river flowing over a series of large, dark brown rocks. The water is turbulent, creating white foam and rapids as it cascades over the stones. The background shows more rocks and some green moss or algae. The overall scene is dynamic and natural.

Isaiah 21:12 The watchman said,
The morning cometh, and also the night: if ye will inquire, inquire ye:
return, come.