

The background of the image shows a shallow stream with clear water flowing over dark, wet rocks. Several evergreen branches, possibly spruce or fir, are partially submerged in the water, their green needles and brown stems visible. The lighting is soft, creating gentle reflections on the water's surface.

Revelation 08:03 And another angel came and stood at the altar, having a golden censer; and there was given unto him much incense, that he should offer it with the prayers of all saints upon the golden altar which was before the throne.