

Job 05:08 I would seek unto God,
and unto God would I commit my
cause:

A close-up photograph of a purple flower, likely a petunia, with intricate vein patterns on its petals. The flower is the central focus, with its vibrant purple color and detailed structure clearly visible. The background is dark and blurred, emphasizing the flower's form and texture. The text is overlaid on the upper portion of the image in a white, bold, serif font.