

A garden scene featuring a small waterfall cascading over several large, dark brown rocks. The water is clear and reflects light, creating a shimmering effect. The surrounding area is lush with greenery, including various plants and flowers. On the left, there are several pink and purple flowers. On the right, there are green plants with small, round leaves. The background is filled with dense green foliage, including what appears to be a large, textured plant with many small, pointed leaves. The overall atmosphere is peaceful and natural.
