

Psalm 103:09 He will not always chide: neither will he keep his anger for ever.

A photograph of a winter landscape. In the foreground, a large, flat rock is completely covered in a thick layer of snow. To the right, a small stream flows over several large, dark rocks, with some snow melting around it. The background shows more snow-covered rocks and some dry, brown grasses. The lighting is soft, suggesting a low sun, creating a serene and quiet atmosphere.