

A close-up photograph of water splashing over a dark, textured surface. The water is captured in motion, creating a spray of droplets and bubbles. In the upper right corner, several green leaves are visible, partially obscuring the dark background. The overall scene is dynamic and visually rich.

Genesis 24:63 And Isaac went out to meditate in the field at the eventide: and he lifted up his eyes, and saw, and, behold, the camels were coming.