

A close-up photograph of two monarch butterflies resting on a light-colored, textured rock. The butterfly in the foreground is positioned on the left, with its wings partially spread, showing vibrant orange and black patterns. The second butterfly is perched slightly higher and further back on the rock. To the right of the rock, there is a small green plant with succulent-like leaves and a single yellow flower. The background is softly blurred, showing more of the rock and some greenery.

Luke 11:52 Woe unto you, lawyers! for ye have taken away the key of knowledge: ye entered not in yourselves, and them that were entering in ye hindered.