

An aerial photograph of a city at dusk. The sky is a mix of orange, yellow, and blue, with some clouds. The city below is dark, with some lights visible from buildings and streets. The text is overlaid on the upper half of the image.

Psalm 119:128 Therefore I esteem all thy precepts concerning all things to be right; and I hate every false way.