

A close-up photograph of several vibrant purple flowers, likely petunias, with green foliage in the background. The flowers are in various stages of bloom, with some fully open and others as buds. The lighting is soft, highlighting the texture of the petals.

Ezekiel 32:26 There is Meshech, Tubal, and all her multitude: her graves are round about him: all of them uncircumcised, slain by the sword, though they caused their terror in the land of the living.