

A close-up photograph of dark purple, almost black, leaves with prominent veins. The leaves are slightly out of focus, creating a soft background for the white text. The text is centered and reads:

2nd Samuel 16:11 And David said to Abishai, and to all his servants, Behold, my son, which came forth of my bowels, seeketh my life: how much more now may this Benjamite do it? let him alone,
and let him curse; for the LORD
hath bidden him.
