

Acts 09:24 But their laying await was known of Saul. And they watched the gates day and night to kill him.

A close-up photograph of a bright red flower, possibly a species of ginger or similar, with large, glossy green leaves. The flower is the central focus, with its petals showing some texture and color variations. The background is a mix of green moss, other smaller plants, and a dark, textured wooden log or branch on the right side. The lighting is natural, highlighting the sheen of the leaves and the vibrant red of the flower.