

A close-up photograph of a bouquet of roses. The roses are in various stages of bloom, showing a rich palette of orange, peach, and yellow tones. The petals are layered and ruffled, creating a textured appearance. Green leaves are interspersed among the flowers, providing a natural contrast. The background is dark and out of focus, making the roses stand out prominently.

Nahum 03:07 And it shall come to pass, that all they that look upon thee shall flee from thee, and say, Nineveh is laid waste: who will bemoan her? whence shall I seek comforters for thee?