

A photograph of a clear blue sky with scattered, light-colored clouds. In the foreground, the dark green, needle-like branches of a tree are visible, framing the top and left sides of the image. The text is overlaid in the upper portion of the sky.

Psalm 49:17 For when he dieth he shall carry nothing away: his glory shall not descend after him.