

Daniel 10:10 And, behold, an hand touched me, which set me upon my knees and upon the palms of my hands.

The background of the image is a dramatic sky. It features large, dark, heavy clouds that are illuminated from below, creating a strong contrast and a sense of depth. The light source, likely the sun, is positioned near the horizon, casting a warm, golden glow that filters through the gaps in the clouds. The overall mood is one of awe and divine presence, which complements the biblical text overlaid on the image.